Additional Information

Despite facing academic challenges related to a learning disability, Quinn has never allowed obstacles in the classroom to define him or weaken his confidence. Instead, they have strengthened his mental toughness, work ethic, and determination. He brings that same resilience to the volleyball court every day as a six-rotation player and team captain for the past two years, leading by example through consistency, grit, and heart. His commitment to putting in extra work has carried over academically as well, earning a 3.52 GPA last semester. (Overall 2.6) Quinn's perseverance, leadership, and dedication truly reflect the character and discipline that the Mr. Volleyball award represents. His beach game is just as good as his indoor game. Playing at the top level in the state, and this past summer he had the honor of being asked to play with two AVP players and made it to the championship in every beach tournament he played in.
